Machines Lining Both Sides of Thoroughfares Force Vehicles to Use Car Tracks

Densities of complaints concerning violation of the parking regulations pour daily into the office of Superintendent Mills.

Complaints come from motormen, automobilists and trolley riders who have been held up by dump carts or other wagons unable to get out of the trolley tracks because of trucks and automobiles parked on both sides of one-way streets.

Through the narrow chasm formed by the vehicles lining the curb traffic must find its way. Sometimes columns of cars in length are delayed because a horse-drawn vehicle is unable to turn out at the trolley's warning bell.

Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh streets north of Arch seem to have the most difficult situation. Automobiles and trucks are parked so closely together it is impossible for vehicles to turn out and allow trolleys and faster moving traffic to pass.

OAK LANE CLUB LAYS CORNERSTONE

OAK LANE SOCIETY LAYS CORNERSTONE

Work on Review Clubhouse Begins With Elaborate Exercises

COST WILL BE $25,000

Eight charter members of the Review Club attended the cornerstone laying of the new $25,000 home last night at Seventieth avenue and Twelfth street, Oak Lane.

Dr. George W. Stewart, the presiding officer, in a short preliminary address, drew an analogy in the building of the clubhouse to the great civilizations of ancient Greece and Rome.

"This clubhouse is an integral part of the life of the community," said Dr. Stewart, who is the son of Mrs. Mary Stewart, one of the founders. "It represents intelligent thought. All life is dependent upon just such things as this, and it is because ancient Rome and Greece lost sight of that fact that their historic civilization gradually crumbled."

Among the tokens inserted in the cornerstone before it was put in place by Mrs. E. Clarence Miller, chairman, and Mrs. Owen Osborne, Jr., financial secretary of the Building Committee, was a clipping from Monday morning's PUBLIC LEADER, giving a detailed description of the new building and its history, and a four-leaf clover.

The four-leaf clover was found just a few minutes before the ceremonies were opened by Mrs. Charles W. Asbury, a charter member, and was added to the contents of the stone for luck.

Mrs. William Hendrie Shelly, president of the Review Club, in the principal address told how twenty-seven years ago the club was founded by twelve women in the community; how it had gradually grown and prospered until now its membership numbers more than 300 of the most prominent women in Oak Lane.

She also told how the splendid efforts of sixty members, who conducted the campaign, made possible the building of such a costly and elaborate structure. In conclusion she outlined the club's plans to move to the building a real inspirational and cultural center for Oak Lane.

Before her address members of the club sang the State song and the Star Spangled Banner, and the Rev. Dr. Sewell J. Daley presided over the invocation. A baritone solo by Norman Barr preceded the laying of the cornerstone, and the exercises were concluded by a prayer and benediction by the Rev. Charles J. Gable. The community then joined in a songfest, conducted by Valentine Lee.

The new structure will have a spacious reception hall, an auditorium with a seating capacity of 350, a large club-room, dressing rooms, pantry and a wide veranda.

The eight members of the original twelve who founded the club twenty-seven years ago and who attended the exercises last night were Mrs. Charles W. Asbury, Mrs. James Carr, Mrs. John Henry M. Deemer, Mrs. Winfield B. Dougherty, Mrs. Walter Jordan, Mrs. Walter J. MacFarland, Mrs. W. H. Miller and Mrs. E. Clarence Miller.

Officers of the Review Club are Miss Emma L. Crowell, first vice president; Mrs. William C. Yerkes, second vice president; Mrs. John H. Gross, recording secretary; Mrs. George V. B. Leitch, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William P. Siegert, federation secretary and secretary of the Building Committee and Mrs. Thomas D. Sullivan, treasurer.

The membership of the Building Committee includes Mrs. William P. Siegert, Mrs. Howard C. Carr, Mrs. John Dexter, Mrs. Eddy R. Whitney, Mrs. W. Hastie Smith, Jr., Mrs. John L. Craig, Mrs. Eugene H. Austin, Mrs. E. Ellis Groban, Mrs. Henry Asbury, Mrs. O. H. Kiesewetter, Mrs. Louis Burin and Mrs. E. A. Wielenmayer.

W. Ellis Groban is the architect.

It was placed at the corner of Seventieth avenue and Twelfth street, where the new home of the Review Club, of Oak Lane, will be erected. Mrs. E. Clarence Miller, chairman of Building Committee, with trowel in hand. Standing with her is Mrs. Owen Osborne, Jr., Mrs. William Henry Shelly (inset), president of the club, snatched while making an address.

ELOPES WITH MUSICIAN; GETS HER THEATRE PASS

Bridgeton, N. J., Couple Surprises Everybody by Marriage

John D. Elmer, a musician of promise and a student at a conservatory in this city, surprised his friends in Bridgeton, N. J., by eloping to Elton with Ruth M. Cornwell, one of Bridgeton's prettiest girls and the daughter of Dr. Alfred Cornwell.

Elmer plays in the orchestra at a moving picture theatre in Bridgeton, and the first intimation of the romance came recently when Miss Cornwell told the ticket-taker at the theatre that she soon might have a season pass. This didn't mean a thing to the ticket-taker until after news of the wedding.

A peculiar circumstance is that Dr. Cornwell declared consistently that his daughter was at home all day, and excitedly denies that his daughter was a party to any elopement. But people of Bridgeton say that facts are facts, for the marriage announcements from Elton include the names of Miss Ruth Cornwell and John D. Elmer.

TWO BOYS HELD AT SHORE

Picked Up as Runaways After Message From Philadelphia

Atlantic City police today notified Philadelphia officials that two boys had been picked up there as runaways. They gave their names as Albert McFisk, fourteen years old, and Dallas Wallace, fifteen. Neither would give his address, but both said they lived in Philadelphia.

The youths were found on the Boardwalk following receipt of a telegram from the Philadelphia police saying four boys had disappeared and probably would be found in the vicinity of the city. John Daily, 1829 South Seventeenth street; Daniel McAvoy, 714 South Cleveland street; Fred Artest, 1545 Pierce street; and Harry Hicks, 1717 McKean street.

WOODBURY WEDDINGS SLUMP

However, Says Town Clerk, Births Will Break Records

Woodbury is in a "lawful marriage slump," according to City Clerk Davis, who keeps the vital statistics. Even though the new year has begun, there are ahead in the list of June weddings, while Woodbury has dropped off below former years.

Mr. Davis states, however, that there seems to be "plenty of ambition" among young couples, many of whom have applied for licenses, but when informed that they must wait ten days under the New Jersey law, nine out of ten say: "Well, we'll go somewhere else," and away they strut from the office to Pennsylvania or Elton, Md., maybe. Preachers here would surely give them a license if they had to depend on marriage fees.

On the other hand, Woodbury possibly leads all South Jersey towns in births. The clerk has not yet compiled the June record, but he is sure "returns" are not all in, as these are filed by hospital authorities and doctors within a few days, but he is sure June's record will break any months for several years.

GIRL HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Drivers of Both Cars Held for Collision at 43d and Catharine Streets

Miss Evelyn Marcey, sixteen years old, 1223 South Broadway street, was out on a bicycle when she was struck in a collision between an automobile driven by B. L. Crocker, Salford street. The collision occurred at Fifty-third and Catharine streets. Miss Marcey, who was riding in one of the machines, was treated at the Misericordia Hospital.

The drivers were arrested by police of the Fifty-fifth and Pine streets station.

ONE-ARMED, BUT SHOOTS

Police Think Scraggy Auto Thief Is Using Assumed Name

Caught in the act of stealing an automobile at Bywood Monday night, a young man giving the name of Frank McCarry was captured by Officer John Leighton, Jr., after exchanging shots. The police believe the name given by the young man is a fictitious one.

The youth, who is about nineteen years of age, has but one arm, saying he lost the other in France.

SIX WILLS ARE PROBATED

Wills of the following were probated today: Charles R. Ege, $5000; Alexander Wybrant, $9000; Louis T. Ross, $11,402; Frances M. Scheb, $4400; Annie M. Flynn, $4000; and George J. White, $40,000. Inventories of the personal estates of Tilly Husler, $8701.20; Nicholas Sokler, $10,202.51; and Max Schindler, $22,240.20 were filed. Letters of administration for the estate of Gertrude S. McMaster, who died in Kennepunket, Me., on June 20, were granted. Her estate is estimated at $20,000.

HONOR F. I. REISNER

In celebration of his sixty-second birthday, a surprise party arranged by friends of Frank I. Reisner, president of the Market Street Merchants' Association, was given last night in his home, 5 Windsor avenue, Highland Park. Included among those who had an active part in arranging the affair, which was attended by many friends of the surprised "host," were Dr. Small, David DeSaville, Charles E. Cooper, Joseph W. Neeson, Charles E. McIver, William Wagner, William H. Harrison, Jr., E. W. Cook, Albert Boyer, Alfred Weyhmann, Valdo A. Reiser.

SUSPECT TWO IN GEM THEFT

Two prospective customers are suspected of robbing the home of H. W. Fisher, 2932 York street, whose household goods are in process of sale. Fisher reported to the police that two diamonds were stolen and furnished a description of two men who inspected the household goods shortly before the rings disappeared.

WOMAN VOTE WILL RULE NATION, G. H. LORIMER SAYS

Editor Discusses Contest for Senatorship in California

Los Angeles, July 12.—"The woman vote will rule the Nation," said George Horace Lorimer, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, at the Alexandria Hotel yesterday. "I am confident it will determine whether Hiram Johnson or Charles C. Moore is the next Senator from California."

"When woman was given the right to vote, men thought it would merely invade the voting power of the Nation without any appreciable change in the political situation. They have found out differently. The woman is voting her convictions. Any question with a moral issue is getting the general support of her vote."

"Europe has been behaving like a drunkard who proclaims his earnest desire to quit and takes a bottle to bed with him; who goes to the mourners' bench with noisy protestations and leaves it to start a new round of hell-raising. And Europe is doing this on American capital."

MAN AND GIRL INJURED IN 2 BASEBALL MISHAPS

Former Seriously Hurt Playing "Catch"—Latter Hit by Foul

A man and a young woman were injured, the man seriously, when struck by baseballs in Northwest Philadelphia, late yesterday afternoon.

Harry Jenner, forty-four years old, 1731 Glenwood avenue, is in a serious condition at Northwest General Hospital, with concussion of the brain. He was "playing catch" with a friend at Twenty-ninth street and Columbia avenue. Up to a late hour last night he had not regained consciousness.

The other victim, a young woman, was struck by a baseball in the neck, which fractured her spine. She was struck by a foul ball.

BURY LOCKJAW VICTIM

Funeral for Robert Carthow to Be Held Today

The funeral of sixteen-year-old Robert R. Carthow, third-year student at Northeast High School, who died Monday afternoon of lockjaw in Lankenau Hospital, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the funeral home of the Rev. Herbert Reese, rector of St. Matthew's Protestant Episcopal Church, Eighteenth street and Girard avenue.

Fellow-students of the high school, of which young Carthow was a junior, will attend the funeral services. Burial will be in Northwood Cemetery.

VICTOR KOLAR TO CONDUCT ORCHESTRA IN PARK SEASON

Victor Herbert Congratulates Symphony Management on Selection

Victor Kolar, considered one of the most talented of the younger conductors and composers in this country, will conduct the Symphony Orchestra in Fairmount Park the first three weeks of the seven-weeks' season. The concerts will begin next Monday evening, at 8 o'clock in the Lemon Hill concert pavilion.

When Victor Herbert learned that Mr. Kolar had been engaged as conductor for the initial three weeks of park concerts, he sent the following message to the management:

"I am delighted to hear that Mr. Kolar has been engaged to conduct the Fairmount Park Orchestra. He is easily the very best man you possibly could have obtained; he is very gifted composer, a brilliant conductor and a charming gentleman."

For the last three years, Mr. Kolar has been assistant to Ossip Gabrilowitsch, conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Next season he will conduct all the Sunday concerts and children and young people's concerts of that organization. Prior to his connection with the Detroit Orchestra, Mr. Kolar for four years was assistant conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra under Walter Damrosch.

Mr. Kolar, who is a brilliant violinist, was born in 1883 near the town of Slavok, Bohemia, who seeks to defeat the probate of the will of his father, Max Roth, East Camden saloonkeeper, who left his estate of $50,000 to his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Roth, his third wife.

Dr. Frank White, of this city, who operated on Mr. Roth before he died, testified that he did not believe that Mr. Roth, owing to his acute suffering, was able to execute a will.

The will leaving the entire estate to the widow was made a few hours before his death. The son avers his father's mind was not clear when he made his will. The son also charges that his stepmother exerted undue influence over his father.

Theodore Roth, a son by Roth's second marriage, testified that his stepmother the day after his father's

AUTO HITS CAMDEN MAN; SPEEDS OFF

John Dobson, Third and Royden Streets, Taken to Hospital by Another Motorist

MAY TRACE MISSING CAR

John Dobson, forty-five years old, of Third and Royden streets, Camden, was seriously injured last night when struck by an automobile at Mount Ephraim and Nicholson roads, Mount Ephraim. The driver of the machine increased his speed and left his victim lying in the road.

Five minutes later a machine driven by Raymond McQuay, of 811 South Eighth street, drove down the trolley track and almost ran over the body of Dobson, who lay in the road. McQuay took the injured man to the West Jersey Homeopathic Hospital and supplied the police with the number of the car which is believed to have struck Dobson.

Judge Shay, in the Camden Orphans' Court, yesterday heard additional testimony in the suit of Edwin C. Roth, of Wrentham, N. J., who seeks to defeat the probate of the will of his father, Max Roth, East Camden saloonkeeper, who left his estate of $50,000 to his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Roth, his third wife.

Dr. Frank White, of this city, who operated on Mr. Roth before he died, testified that he did not believe that Mr. Roth, owing to his acute suffering, was able to execute a will.

HELD ON WIFE'S CHARGES

It All Happens After He "Beats" Way 3000 Miles to Her Side

After a three weeks' journey of 3000 miles from Santa Cruz, Calif., during which he walked, rode bumpers on freights and begged lifts in automobiles, Elsie Morgan, twenty-seven years old, joined his wife in Germantown Monday night, only to be held in $400 bail yesterday on a charge of threatening her life. Morgan was arrested at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. William Schneckel, Berkeley street near Pulaski avenue.

The mother-in-law testified before Magistrate Lindell at the Germantown police station that her daughter had been badly treated by her husband while they were living in California. Morgan made no denial when the magistrate said the offense had been committed in another State, out of his jurisdiction. It then was charged that Morgan had threatened his wife only the previous night on the porch of the Schneckel home.
